

BUILT TO OUTGROW ONE MAN

More Than One Man

Prepared for Patrick McCauley
McCauley Electrical Services, Atlanta

What this is for

You keep the business small, but you do not want it small forever. You told me the truth of it plainly: you want the phone ringing more than one man can answer – because the day the work outgrows you is the day hiring stops being a gamble and becomes the obvious next move.

Not a busier week. A business that has outgrown one man. That is the only outcome this proposal serves, and everything inside it is built backward from that one goal.

01 OUTGROW ONE MAN

Enough steady, booked work that bringing on help again is the obvious move, not a leap of faith.

02 GROW, WITHOUT BECOMING THEM

Bigger, on your terms – the owner whose name is on the truck, never the conglomerate you have watched swallow the trade.

03 BE FOUND, AND BE CHOSEN

Present where customers are already searching, and unmistakably the one they trust when they find you.

You do not want a busier week. You want a business that has outgrown one man – and that begins with demand you can see.

How demand gets built

Demand like that does not arrive by accident – it is engineered, and it has two halves: creating the demand, and catching it so none of it leaks. We build the first and secure the second, in that order, so every new call has somewhere to land.

Before writing a word of this, the studio spent a day reading your public footprint the way a new customer would. Two things stood out. Both are fixable.

01 YOU ARE HARD TO FIND

The demand is out there searching right now – “electrician near me,” “Buckhead electrician” – and it is not finding you. You are absent from the map pack and from every “best electrician” round-up we checked, even in the neighborhoods where you hold a page. That search traffic is going to whoever shows up first.

02 YOUR REPUTATION CANNOT RANK

Your reviews are flawless and nearly invisible – a handful against 2,239 for the private-equity brand in your metro. Reviews are not vanity here. They are how the search decides who to show. Thin reviews keep you off the page where the demand is looking.

The demand you want already exists. Right now it is simply being caught by someone else.

The Foundation

$1,970 A NUMBER SET FOR YOU ALONE

The front door. Three things, coupled into one – you look before you leap, and you leave with the first piece already built.

01 THE AUDIT • VALUED AT $1,000, INCLUDED

Where your demand hides, where it leaks and what to build first – your whole pipeline read the way a new customer sees it.

02 THE COMMAND SESSION

Your workflow mapped one-to-one, and a written plan you keep whatever you decide to do next.

03 YOUR FIRST BUILD

Commissioned on the call and delivered – the first working piece of the engine, live, not a document about it.

Payment. Half commissions the Foundation; the final half falls due at the demonstration, once your first build is shown working. The audit alone is valued at the price of a full build – here it is included.

A La Carte Builds

Priced per project YOURS TO OWN OUTRIGHT

Fixed-price projects, added as you grow – an asset on your books, never a rented seat on ours. Where a build runs on a tool, the account is in your name, with your keys.

The Booking Line

$1,000

Booking live on your site, Google profile claimed and finished, every listing corrected so you are found and bookable everywhere a customer looks.

Missed-Call Rescue and Reviews

$1,500

Every missed call texted back inside a minute; every finished job asked for the review you have earned a thousand times and rarely collected. Your ranking fuel, finally compounding.

The Local Search Build

$2,000

Your neighborhood pages built to rank for "electrician near me," so new work finds you in the map pack instead of the conglomerate. This is new demand, not just caught demand.

Payment. Half commissions any build; the final half falls due at the handoff demonstration, once you have watched it work. We keep building and refining at no charge until the machinery does what it promised – or that final half is never owed.

THE CARE PLAN • $500 A MONTH, OPTIONAL

Monitoring with a monthly readout, review management, local-search upkeep, priority support and small improvements. Start it, pause it or cancel it whenever you like – the builds are yours either way.

The Growth Engine

From $7,500 OWNED, NOT RENTED

Every piece, engineered as one integrated system and handed to you as an asset – the machine that finally makes you more than one man can serve.

Findability, booking, missed-call capture, reviews, local search and the follow-up that turns a quote into a booked job – not three separate builds, but one engine, built to run together and tuned as a whole.

Owned, not rented. Like a good van: you buy it once, you own it outright, and you come back only when it needs service. Scoped and structured in your Foundation session, so the whole thing is shaped to your day before a bolt is turned.

Payment. Half commissions the engine, half at the demonstration – the same build-until-it-works promise, at the scale of the whole system.

THE CARE PLAN · $500 A MONTH, OPTIONAL

Keeps the engine sharp – monitored, updated and improving month over month. Cancels whenever you like. The engine is yours regardless.

Where to start

THE OTHER PRICE

Doing nothing has a price too. The demand you want is being taken right now by the brand that out-reviewed you 2,239 to a handful – not the better electrician, just the one the search shows. Every month without an engine of your own is another month of that. What this studio builds, you own. What a retainer rents you is gone the day you stop paying.

A STARTING POINT, NOT A FINAL WORD

These are the offers I am thinking of making – the beginning of a conversation, not terms carved in stone. If a piece should flex to fit you better, it flexes. Read it over, and tell me what lands and what does not.

WHEN YOU HAVE HAD A LOOK

Grab any time that suits and we will walk through it together, mapping where you would start – useful whether or not you commission a thing.

cal.com/martavious-spicer/the-working-call

You built this business showing up on time, calling ahead and cleaning up after. The studio holds itself to the same standard. However you decide – thank you for the conversation. It was a good one.

Martavious Spicer

Five Points Digital Studio

martavious@fivepoints.studio · fivepoints.studio