

BUILT TO OUTGROW ONE MAN

More Than One Man

Prepared for Patrick McCauley

What you are after

Before a word about what we would build, here is what I heard you say you want. If any of it is off, the working call is where we set it straight – everything downstream is measured against these.

01

OUTGROW ONE MAN

Not a busier week. A business with more work than one man can serve – the point at which hiring stops being a gamble and becomes the obvious next move, the way it was before 2008. This is the outcome every recommendation here is measured against.

02

GROW WITHOUT BECOMING THEM

You have watched the all-in-ones swell into conglomerates, and you intend to grow without turning into one. The work stays yours, done right, by the name on the truck. We are after more of it, not a different kind of it.

03

BE FOUND, AND BE CHOSEN

The customers are already searching. The objective is to be the electrician they find and the one they trust enough to call – visible where the demand is looking, and backed by a reputation that finally shows the quality your customers already know.

You do not want a busier week. You want a business that has outgrown one man – and that begins with demand you can see.

How demand gets built

Demand like that does not arrive by accident. It is engineered, and it has two halves – creating the demand, and catching it so none of it leaks. We build the first and secure the second, in that order, so every new call has somewhere to land.

Before writing this, the studio spent a day reading your public footprint the way a new customer would. Two things decide whether the demand is there, and both are fixable.

01 WHERE THE DEMAND IS HIDING

The customers are searching right now – “electrician near me,” “Buckhead electrician” – and they are not finding you. You are absent from the map pack and from every “best electrician” round-up we checked, even in the neighbourhoods where you hold a page. The demand exists. Today it goes to whoever shows up first.

02 REVIEWS ARE THE FUEL

Your reputation is flawless and nearly invisible – five stars everywhere it shows, a handful of them against 2,239 for the private equity brand in your metro. Reviews are not vanity here. They are how the search decides who to put in front of a customer. Thin reviews keep you off the page where the demand is looking.

Every month this stands, the demand you want is being taken by the brand that out-reviewed you 2,239 to a handful – not the better electrician, just the one the search shows. The three offers that follow close that gap, in the order that makes each dollar pay.

The Foundation

Where everyone starts. Before we build anything, we look – then we build the first piece together, on the same call. One number, set for you.

01

THE AUDIT • VALUED AT $1,000, INCLUDED

Your whole pipeline read the way a new customer sees it – where the demand is hiding, where it leaks, and what to build first. You keep the findings whatever you decide next.

02

THE COMMAND SESSION

One-to-one, phone-first. We map your workflow together and agree the plan – what gets built, in what order, and what each piece is meant to change. This is the working call, and it is useful whether or not you commission a thing.

03

YOUR FIRST BUILD

Scoped on the call and built straightaway – the first working piece of the engine, live and demonstrated, not a document about it. The a la carte page overleaf shows the builds this can be.

THE INVESTMENT

$1,970

The audit alone is valued at $1,000. Coupled with the command session and your first build, the whole foundation is set at one number, for you. Half commissions it, half falls due at the demonstration once your first build is shown working. This is the front door; everything that follows flows from here.

A la carte builds

The pieces of the engine, each a fixed-price project you own outright. Take one, take several, add more as you grow. Nothing here is rented, and you hold the balance until you have watched it work.

01 THE BOOKING LINE $1,000

Booking live on your site, your Google profile claimed and finished, every listing corrected – so you are found and bookable everywhere a customer looks. The catch, so nothing that calls slips away.

02 MISSED-CALL RESCUE AND REVIEWS $1,500

Every missed call texted back inside a minute; every finished job asked for the review you have earned a thousand times and rarely collected. This is the fuel – the reviews that lift you onto the page where the demand is searching.

03 THE LOCAL SEARCH BUILD $2,000

Your neighbourhood pages built to rank for “electrician near me,” so new work finds you in the map pack instead of the conglomerate. This is new demand, not just caught demand – the tap, opened.

PAYMENT • HALF NOW, HALF WHEN IT WORKS

Half commissions any build; the final half falls due at the handoff demonstration, once you have watched it work. We keep building and refining at no extra charge until the machinery does what it promised – booking taking appointments, calls answered, rankings moving – or that final half is never owed.

YOU OWN IT

Every build is yours outright, an asset on your books, never a rented seat on ours. Where a build runs on a tool, the account is in your name and your keys – you keep all of it whether or not we ever work together again.

THE CARE PLAN • $500 A MONTH, OPTIONAL

Monitoring, monthly optimisation and a short readout, review management, local-search upkeep, priority support and small improvements as we go. Start it, pause it or cancel it whenever you like – the builds are yours either way.

The Growth Engine

Every piece above, engineered as one integrated system and handed to you as an asset – the machine that makes you more than one man can serve.

- The whole engine, built as one – findability, booking, missed-call capture, reviews and local search, wired to work together rather than bought piece by piece.
 - Owned, not rented – like a good van, you buy it once, you own it outright, and you come back only when it needs service. The competing quote on your table rents you a thinner version for $2,500 every month; three months of that, and you could have owned this.
 - Built toward the hire – the whole system is aimed at one number: a calendar full enough, and steady enough, that a second pair of hands stops being a risk.

from $7,500

Owned outright, and scoped in your Foundation session so the number reflects your engine and not a package. Half commissions it, half at the demonstration. The optional Care Plan – $500 a month – keeps it sharp and cancels whenever you like. An asset on your books, not a line item that repeats forever.

How this proceeds

THE COMMISSION, DRAWN AS ONE LINE

BOOK THE WORKING CALL

cal.com/martavious-spicer/the-working-call

Forty-five minutes, phone-first. This is your command session – we walk your day together and agree the plan.

START AT THE FOUNDATION

The call runs the audit walkthrough and scopes your first build, confirmed in writing. By the time we hang up, the work is already moving.

WATCH IT WORK, THEN OWN IT

Each build is demonstrated live before the balance is due. From there you add builds a la carte, or step up to the whole engine – entirely at your pace, always yours to keep.

You built this business on showing up on time, calling ahead and cleaning up after. The studio holds itself to the same standard. However you decide – thank you for the conversation. It was a good one.
