

THE IDENTITY BOOK

Five Points Digital Studio

WHO WE ARE · HOW WE SOUND · HOW WE SHOW UP

DECATUR, GEORGIA

WELCOME

This book sets out who we are, what we stand for, how we talk and how we look, wherever we show up in the world.

It is a working framework rather than a cage. It holds the decisions that do not move — the name, the mark, the palette, the voice — and leaves room for the judgement every good piece of work needs. Applied consistently it compounds: every page, every plan and every call adds to one recognisable house rather than starting again.

Version 4.0 supersedes the fingerprint of June 2026 and restores the warmth of the 2025 book to a house that had grown cold in its own documentation.

1.1 BRAND MANIFESTO

In this section we set out the building blocks of the brand: who we are, what we stand for, what sets us apart, why we choose the words we use and how we have decided to show up.

The essence — connecting passion to possibility — is the internal north star. It is never set in type on a surface an owner sees.

PORTRAIT

THE OWNER AT HIS PLACE

Brand Manifesto

OVERVIEW

We build businesses that last, not campaigns that expire. The best work sits where timeless quality meets forward-thinking purpose, and everything we make starts there.

OUR MISSION

To give an owner clear direction and a team that carries it — the systems, the resources and the plain-spoken expertise that turn a complicated problem into a simple path, so the business grows and keeps growing after we have gone home.

OUR VISION

To be the consultancy an owner-operator calls first when the business is ready to be known. We believe the smartest businesses win, not the ones with the biggest budgets, and that a company unmistakably itself will bring the city to its door.

THE CHALLENGE

Most agencies look excellent on paper. They arrive with a template, they charge by the month, and when the engagement ends they take the keys with them. You end up with a vendor and a bill, not a partner and an asset.

1.2 BRAND VALUES

Who we are is reflected in our values. Five of them, for five points — the central benefits that guide our actions, unite our people and uphold the mission.

01

Clarity

Great work begins with understanding. We replace confusion with a plan everyone can read, so you know what we are doing and why. The right path is always the clear one.

02

Partnership

We work with you, not just for you. Your goals become ours, the relationship is open and honest, and getting it right is the whole point.

03

World class

Excellence in everything, from the biggest idea to the smallest detail. Polished, powerful work you can depend on, every time.

04

Built to last

We build for tomorrow, not just today. Timeless strategy, strong foundations and systems that grow with the business. We are not interested in chasing trends.

05

Hospitality

How it feels to work with us matters as much as what we make. Every owner is received, never processed. We are rigorous on the ninety-five so the five can be spent well.

ONE VOICE PER SURFACE. ALL FIVE MEET ONLY IN THE MARK.

1.3 BRAND PERSONALITY

Our personality is deliberately human. World-class work and a premium experience can arrive with a personal touch. Our confidence comes from competence, which lets us be relaxed and direct.

We take the work seriously. We do not take ourselves too seriously.

Confident in our expertise, approachable in our delivery.

WE ARE

Insightful partners, trusted guides and creative catalysts. Curious, attentive and invested in the success of every owner we work with — and glad of the company while we build it together.

We love a complicated problem and the simple answer on the far side of it. We live for the moment a good plan becomes a result the owner is proud to show.

WE ARE NEVER

Cold.
Arrogant.
Rigid.
Generic.
Transactional.

1.4 BRAND ARCHETYPES

Three archetypes, in order. The Magician leads: we are agents of change, and the moment a plan becomes a result is the moment we work for.

The staggered baseline is the modular rhythm — rank falling left to right.

PRIMARY

The Magician

Agents of change and vision. We turn ambitious ideas into reality, often in ways that looked impossible from the porch. We see what could be and we have the hands to make it.

SECONDARY

The Sage

Guided by truth and understanding. We seek out what is actually happening and share it plainly, bringing clarity to complexity. Every date we give can be checked.

TERTIARY

The Creator

Driven to build, invent and express. We care about originality and craft, and we obsess over the details of execution so the finished thing is both beautiful and useful.

1.5 TONE OF VOICE

The voice is constant; the tone flexes. Five attributes hold whatever the subject, and six contexts set the register.

THE VOICE – FIVE ATTRIBUTES, FIXED

Insightful

The perspective, never the data dump

Warm

Humans speaking to humans, never sentimental

Plain

The words of the owner, never jargon

Vivid

A well-chosen story, never style over substance

Specific

Every number and promise named, never a range

THE TONE – SIX CONTEXTS

The plan and the proposal

Exacting and warm. A plan handed across a kitchen table, every figure named.

Editorial, not corporate. A magazine, not a landing page. It rewards a reader.

The journal

The almanac. What was done, what it cost, what came back. Hype never.

Social

Single observations, single sentences. When in doubt, post less.

About

Personal and composed. The story of the name, told once.

Crisis

Slower, not faster. Composed, not reassuring. The composure is the reassurance.

1.6 BRAND MESSAGING

The essence is the internal north star and is never printed. The signature rides beside the mark. The primary message is the ten-second read.

THE ESSENCE · NEVER PRINTED

THE SIGNATURE · BESIDE THE MARK

We bring the city to your door.

THE PRIMARY MESSAGE · THE TEN-SECOND READ

Five Points builds the marketing and the systems that bring the city to your door — and you keep every one of them.

SECONDARY MESSAGES

- 01

Answering the right questions.
- 02

We manage the complexity. You focus on the vision.
- 03

Clarity is the foundation.
- 04

One door at a time.
- 05

Yours from the day it goes live.
- 06

Never lose another job you could have won.
- 07

Good is pleasant. Great is powerful.

2.1 THE MARK

The Quintessence. Five petals at seventy-two degrees around a rounded pentagon core, every petal a golden rhombus bowed into a leaf.

Five-fold symmetry is the one order that cannot tile a plane periodically. The figure exists only by design, which is the studio in one object.

The mark carries the studio wherever the wordmark is absent or too long to work — card fronts, envelope flaps, avatars, seals and the favicon.

PARCHMENT ON INK · THE SIGNATURE RENDERING

One of one.

The mark is fixed and canonical. Where an identity of this kind usually asks the mark to carry its own variation, here the variance lives in the field instead — a stable mark for recognition, a variable ground for expression.

One colour per rendering. Never rotated, never outlined, never placed over a photograph.

INK ON BONE · DOCUMENTS AND THE PAGE

2.2 THE GEOMETRY

The construction law. Every constant is checkable against the drawn artefact, and nothing else is added.

Where a sketch and the law diverge, the law governs. The geometry file is upstream truth; the SVG, the favicon and the design system follow from it in one pass.

2.3 THE MARK LADDER

The mark holds its detail down to twenty pixels. Below that the petals close on the core and the figure muddies, so it steps down one rung. The tier is chosen by the rendered size, never by the surface.

THE ROSETTE

Twenty pixels and above. Everything: covers, cards, avatars, footers, the page, the favicon at 32.

THE MICRO MARK

Below twenty pixels. Nav glyphs, email signatures, in-line marks, the favicon at 16. The core alone, which is the one part of the figure that never closes up.

2.4 COLOURWAYS

Four renderings, and no others. One colour per rendering, always — the mark never carries two.

INK ON BONE

BONE ON CORAL

INK ON PAPER

The mark never sits on a photograph, and never on a tint. Where a surface is neither ink nor bone, the mark takes the ink rendering if the ground is light and the parchment rendering if it is dark.

Parchment on ink is the signature: ceremonial surfaces, seals, avatars and the favicon. Ink on bone is the default on the page.

2.5 CLEAR SPACE

Clear space is measured in mark-heights: one and a half on every side, one as the floor. Nothing enters that field — no type, no rule, no image edge.

CLEAR SPACE · 1.5 MARK-HEIGHTS ON EVERY SIDE

The scale row shows the ladder in action: the rosette carries every surface down to twenty pixels, and the micro mark takes everything smaller.

3.1 PRIMARY PALETTE

Bone and ink are the ground. The five voices are drawn from the original five-circle mark — one voice per surface, and all five meet only in the mark.

Coral leads and does the work of an accent.

EMERALD AND BURNT ORANGE ARE RETIRED. PINEWOOD AND GILT SURVIVE ON SEALS AND CERTIFICATES ONLY.

3.2 SURFACE TINTS

Five paper tones carried forward from the 2025 book. They give a surface warmth without adding colour — porch light on paper.

Tints are grounds, never type. Body copy never sets in a tint and a tint never carries the mark.

GOLDEN SECTION

The page band is 6.90 inches. Its golden section falls at 4.264 — the depth of the image well on a standard study page, and the line a full-bleed field is cut to. Where the ratio does not serve, the modular grid does: twelve columns, a 0.15 gutter and a scale on the square root of phi.

3.3 COLOUR WEIGHTING

Bone and ink carry four fifths of any surface. Coral leads the voices. The remaining four are accents and never compete.

One voice per surface is the law. A page that reaches for a second voice has lost its argument.

The grotesque does the working text — body copy, labels, tables and every number. It never carries a display line.

PP Neue Montreal is the licensed face; Manrope stands in until the licence lands.

The letterspaced capital is the house label: nine point, semibold, tracked at 1.8.

4.3 TYPE HIERARCHY

A modular scale on the square root of phi — 1.272. Every size on every surface comes from this ladder and nowhere else.

Body never sets below nine point. The measure never exceeds sixty-five characters, roughly 6.4 inches at eleven point.

PHOTOGRAPHY

5.0	PHOTOGRAPHY	28
5.1	Photographic Style	29
5.2	Light and Colour	30
5.3	Casting and Composition	31

5.1 PHOTOGRAPHIC STYLE

Photography is people. The owner at his place, the crew, the truck in the drive, hands at work. Faces allowed. Evening light.

The image library should feel like a private archive of the working day, never a stock library.

THE OWNER

THE WORK

THE PLACE

EVERY PHOTOGRAPH IN THE DOCUMENTATION SHIPS SCREENED — SEE 6.3. SOURCES HERE ARE PLACEHOLDERS FROM THE GENERATED LIBRARY; COMMISSIONED PHOTOGRAPHY OF THE TRADES ENTERS AT THE NEXT REVENUE RUNG.

THE OWNER

At his own place — the yard, the shop, the kitchen table. Never behind a desk that is not his.

THE WORK

Hands, tools, materials, the van. The object of the trade, closely and honestly.

THE PLACE

Atlanta as it looks at the end of a working day. Never a skyline.

5.2 LIGHT AND COLOUR

One source, warm and directional — a work lamp, a doorway, the end of the day. Shadow is welcome as a compositional element.

DO

Warm single-source light. Natural colour balance. Shadow detail retained. Monochrome only when the subject earns it.

DO NOT

Ring light. Flat office light. On-camera flash. Heavy teal and orange. Bright-and-airy grading.

GALLERY WALL · MODULAR, NEVER A UNIFORM GRID

5.3 CASTING AND COMPOSITION

Cast the people who actually do the work, and the people they serve. Atlanta as it is: every race, every age on a crew, women on the tools as readily as men.

Frame with floor-plan discipline. Negative space between half and two thirds. People sit within the frame rather than filling it – the work has equal weight.

6.4	The Screen in Use	36

VI

6.1 THE LAW OF THE FIELD

A field is not decoration and it is not wallpaper. It is the air a page sits in, drawn entirely from pieces of the mark.

Five rules separate the two, and every one of them is a rule about restraint.

The law forbids a field behind body copy at full strength, more than one field on a spread, the mark rotated, and the complete mark used as a pattern element. The mark is the mark. The pieces are the pattern.

01

Few elements

Three to six forms. What is not there is the composition.

02

One hue, several steps

A single colour in three or four tonal steps. Never a mix of the five voices.

03

One form dominates

Clear variation in scale. Forms at one size read as wallpaper, whatever the spacing.

04

Shapes leave the frame

At least one form cut by an edge. A field that fits inside its box is a picture.

05

Nothing repeats visibly

Where a field does repeat, the seam is invisible and the rhythm carries two scales.

6.2 THE FOUR FIELDS

Four fields, all cut from the leaf. No new shape was invented to make them.

TUMBLING AIR

Covers, card backs and section openers.

THE DESCENT

Spines, side rails and margins. It survives being very narrow.

THE TREFOIL · THE MOTIF ALONE

THE TREFOIL · THE SEAMLESS REPEAT

TUMBLING AIR · THE DRIFT

THE DESCENT

The Trefoil

Three leaves crossing about one centre. The crossings earn a third tone from two, and the triple overlap a fourth, so the tonal steps are earned by the drawing rather than declared in the palette.

It works at two scales: the motif alone on a small surface, and the seamless repeat wherever a large area needs filling. The repeat carries two sizes on a half-drop so the lattice never flattens into wallpaper.

6.3 THE SCREEN

Every photograph in the documentation is screened, and the dot is the mark. There is not a circle anywhere in a Five Points image.

The house ruling is eighty-eight marks across the width of the image, whatever that width happens to be.

150 ACROSS · A PHOTOGRAPH · 24,679 MARKS

88 ACROSS · THE HOUSE RULING · 8,678 MARKS

46 ACROSS · A STATEMENT · 2,478 MARKS

26 ACROSS · THE MARK ITSELF · 843 MARKS

RULING · THE SAME PORTRAIT AT FOUR SCREENS. EIGHTY-EIGHT ACROSS IS THE HOUSE SETTING.

The rosette inks nineteen per cent of its own circle where the core inks fifty. Both are sized from measured ink rather than from diameter, which is what lets the screen change shape inside one image without a step in tone. The mark takes the highlights, where a dot has room to open; the core takes everything darker.

6.4 THE SCREEN IN USE

Bone on ink is the default register. Ink on paper is reserved for pages that are already light. A voice-coloured screen is held back for section dividers.

BONE ON INK · THE DEFAULT REGISTER

INK ON PAPER · LIGHT PAGES ONLY

Sources here are placeholders from the generated library. A screen this strong makes the source obvious rather than hiding it: it wants photography of real people in the trades, shot with clean tonal separation — a light subject against a dark ground, or the reverse.

AT THE DOT · THIRTY-FOUR MARKS ACROSS. THE PENTAGONS CARRY THE MIDTONES; IN THE LIGHTEST PASSAGES THEY GIVE WAY TO THE ROSETTE ITSELF.

APPLICATION

7.0	APPLICATION	37
7.1	The Journey	38
7.2	The Words	39
7.3	Stationery	40
7.4	Digital	41

7.1 THE JOURNEY

Five moments, for five points. Service is the work done well; hospitality is how it feels to receive it. We compete on both, and only one of them is rare in this market.

Rigorous on ninety-five per cent so five per cent can be spent unreasonably. Gestures come from the hospitality log on the card of that owner — one size fits one, never a standard list.

01

The first call

Thirty minutes, no fee, on your operation. You leave with a plain account of where the work is getting lost, whether or not you go on.

02

The plan

One page. Two prices — the cost of yes and the cost of no. Nothing you have to be taught to read.

03

The build

A short word every week and a link to see the work as it grows. No surprises at the end.

04

The keys

The day it goes live you get everything — the number, the messages, the records, the writing behind them — in one folder with your name on it.

05

The quarterly call

What came back, what changed, what is next. The system is yours; we keep it in good order.

7.2 THE WORDS

Say it the way the owner would say it. The marque vocabulary is retired: it carried an identity the buyer had to be taught, and a roofer should not need a glossary to read a plan.

We say

Build. System. Owner. Built for your company. The first call. Testing. The keys. Governance. Return. The plan. Five Points Digital Studio on first mention, Five Points after.

We never say

Solution. Client, customer or user for the owner. Principal, commissioning, marque-grade, calibration, bespoke. Leverage. ROI. Synergy. Cutting-edge, revolutionary, game-changing. Really, truly, genuinely, actually. Unlock, empower, transform, disrupt, innovate. Pain point. Stakeholder. Touch base, circle back, reach out. Deliverable.

When in doubt

Say it the way the owner would say it. Prefer silence over hype. Ask how Rolls-Royce Bespoke would treat this owner. Warmth is the default; formality earns its place. Show rather than tell. Less rather than more. Never name a competitor.

THE MECHANICAL RULES ARE UNCHANGED: BRITISH ENGLISH, NO CONTRACTIONS, NO EM DASHES, NO OXFORD COMMA, NO PARENTHESES, ROMANCE POSSESSIVES, NUMERALS FROM TEN.

7.3 STATIONERY

The A-series is the house standard — A4 for the plan and the letter, A5 for the folder of keys. Ceremony is retired: no lined envelope, no invitation card, no certificate.

The wordmark lives on covers, not on letterhead. Letterhead carries the mark and a contact cluster in one corner, and nothing runs the full width.

CARD FRONT · 74 × 74 MM

CARD BACK

LETTERHEAD · A4

THE PLAN · A4

THE KEYS · THE FOLDER HANDED OVER

WITH COMPLIMENTS · DL

7.4 DIGITAL

Bone and ink are not light mode and dark mode. The register of a page is set by its content, never by the preference of the machine.

Corners carry the mark radius. Hover is tonal only.
Motion is fades and position moves, 200 to 400 milliseconds, and honours reduced motion.
