

A LAUNCH-QUARTER PLAYBOOK

The 90-Day Revenue Architecture

---

The Ben Taylor model, translated to the canon.

CONTENTS

|    |                                  |
|----|----------------------------------|
| 01 | The Translation Thesis           |
| 02 | The Two Engines                  |
| 03 | The 90-Day Plan                  |
| 04 | The Honest Numbers               |
| 05 | The Lifestyle-as-Asset Treatment |
| 06 | The Guardrails                   |

*Not a transplant.
A translation.*

SPECIMEN

Display — Libre Bodoni

Aa

Text — Plus Jakarta Sans

Aa

Palette

Nightshade · 28203C

Saffron · C9A84C

Verdigris · 4A7B6B

Aubergine · 6B3A5E

Rosewood · B8787F

01

A TRANSLATION,
NOT A TRANSPLANT

Ben Taylor runs a feed-native, paid-acquisition machine. Marty Gras is governed by the opposite physics — cadence is inviolable, depth over reach, made to the makers' standard and funded by the generalists. Three of his four structural principles transfer cleanly. One is refused.

| BEN TAYLOR PRINCIPLE                                | VERDICT                      | MARTY-NATIVE FORM                                                                                                             |
|-----------------------------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Lifestyle is a business asset, not consumption      | TRANSFERS —ALREADY CANON | Layer 1, the Kravitz reference — the home and the destinations as part of the art. Editorial inventory by design.             |
| Two engines, no single point of failure             | TRANSFERS                    | Engine one — the owned recurring asset, the Epiphany membership. Engine two — aligned sponsorship and the canonical drop.     |
| Build in order — Audience, Asset, Income, Lifestyle | TRANSFERS                    | The exact sequence of the three arcs. Income is never pulled forward of the asset.                                            |
| Volume and paid acquisition drive the flywheel      | REFUSED                      | The accelerant is the guest, never the algorithm. Growth is propagation through the makers. The sacrifice is the volume play. |

The spending and the earning are the same activity. The difference is cadence — and the standard it is held to.

TWO ENGINES, NO SINGLE POINT OF FAILURE

---

---

ENGINE ONE

The owned asset

The West & Willow analogue is not a print-on-demand store. The recurring, owned, compounding asset is the Epiphany membership. The free tier captures the audience. The paid tier is the asset on the balance sheet — recurring revenue, owned distribution, sellable, compounding while the cadence stays inviolable.

The wall everything else leans on.

---

ENGINE TWO

Diversified income

Aligned sponsorship attaches to a premium, scarce, high-craft object — never a feed integration. The most aligned advertiser pays for the position, not the reach.

The canonical drop — the Frank scarcity pole made literal. A limited, named, returnable object released as an event, never an always-on shop.

---

EXCLUDED THIS QUARTER

Affiliate and always-on merchandise. Both pull toward the feed and dilute the position before there is a body of work to protect it. Scarcity is the brand, or it is not the brand.

Audience before asset. Asset before income. Income before lifestyle. The order is the model.

THREE ARCS, TWO GATES EACH

Anchored to the solstice readiness milestone. Every arc runs the Manor Protocol — Reconnaissance, Direction gate, Execution, Critique gate, Release. Day one is the debut window.

01

Arc One — Audience

Days 1–30

Convert scattered presence into owned distribution. Do not monetise. Income pulled forward here would collapse the position. Ship the debut as a complete named statement — Conversation 1 and Epiphany 1, to legacy grade. Wire native analytics. Unify the six surfaces to @massamartyv.

→ 500 to 1,000 owned emails. A two-deep Conversation buffer. Revenue — deliberately nil.

02

Arc Two — Asset

Days 31–60

Stand up engine one. Open the recurring asset. Conversation 2 ships. Open the Epiphany paid tier at founding-member pricing. Build the first aligned-sponsor shortlist and open outreach — nothing closed yet. Define and design the first canonical drop.

→ 30 to 60 founding members. Roughly £300 to £550 MRR. One sponsor in live conversation.

03

Arc Three — Income

Days 61–90

Light engine two. Two engines live. Close the first aligned sponsorship on a Conversation — a single, premium, aligned position. Release the first canonical drop as a dated event, pre-sold to the membership first. Formalise the lifestyle-as-asset treatment and the two-system separation.

→ £500 to £900 MRR, plus £3,000 to £9,000 non-recurring. A repeatable sponsorship motion, proven once.

THE HONEST NUMBERS

This is Stage 1 into Stage 2 of the ladder — deliberately. The Ben-scale outcome is not a 90-day event. It is the three-year staircase already written into the Brand Journey.

The promise is not speed. It is that the machine compounds without ever raising the cadence.

| LINE                      | DAY 90 ESTIMATE |
|---------------------------|-----------------|
| Owned email list          | 800 – 1,500     |
| Epiphany paid members     | 40 – 80         |
| MRR                       | £350 – £900     |
| Sponsorship — first close | £1,500 – £4,000 |
| Canonical drop            | £2,000 – £9,000 |

QUARTER CASH IN

~£5k – £15k

Foundation, not a salary. The asset compounds from here.

WHERE LOOKING RICH AND BEING WEALTHY DIVERGE

---

---

1

An expense qualifies as production only if it genuinely appears in the work. The litmus is the fingerprint's own — strip it away, does the bridge still stand. If it is cladding, it is personal, and funded by profit or not at all.

---

3

Buy the asset before the lifestyle. Lifestyle inflation unlocks only against recurring profit the asset produces, never against a projected paycheck. This is the line that separates the model from the debt trap it resembles from outside.

---

---

2

Two-system separation is absolute. Venture production costs in the Finance studio. Personal spending in the personal workspace. Zero crossover — the System rule and the venture rule are the same rule.

---

4

Every financial commitment is Tier 3. Approval required, per the Finance studio. The model never overrides the gate.

---

---

The G-Wagon video is not the cost of the lifestyle. It is a revenue-generating production.

WHAT THIS IS NOT

The model fails the moment it is mistaken for permission to chase the feed. Explicit refusals for the quarter.

NO Raising the cadence to lift revenue. Composition over speed. Silence over mediocrity.

---

NO Paid acquisition against the feed as a growth engine. Propagation is through the makers.

---

NO Always-on merchandise or affiliate. The drop is scarce, or it is not the brand.

---

NO Any sponsor that fails the aligned-brands and makers' standard test, regardless of fee.

---

NO Monetising in Arc One. Audience before asset, asset before income, income before lifestyle.

---

Composition over speed. Silence over mediocrity.

---

Source model — Personal Finance sphere, ben-taylor-lifestyle-model.md. Full plan — Marty Gras Finance studio, ben-taylor-model-90-day-plan.md. All figures are modelled estimates for a launch-quarter depth brand, not projections of guaranteed revenue.